

When diagnosed with cancer, it might feel like no one understands what you are going through. Cancer Fighters is here to support you and connect you with someone who has faced the same fears and asked the same questions as you through our CFCN program.

CFCN members are Cancer Treatment Centers of America® (CTCA) patients and caregivers that volunteer their time to help others with the 'fear of the unknown,' answer questions and offer objective advice and ideas. They also share their personal experiences at CTCA® so you can better navigate your cancer care options.

How it works:

Email cfn@ctca-hope.com or contact your CTCA Oncology Information Specialist to request to speak with a CFCN member.

Please be prepared to share information about yourself such as cancer type, family dynamic, and treatment or travel concerns so you can be introduced to someone who has gone through a similar experience.

Also specify if you would like to speak with a cancer survivor or caregiver.

Within 48 hours, you will receive a phone call from a patient or caregiver who will listen to your concerns, share their experience and provide you with encouragement.

Our CFCN members often make long-lasting connections with the people they speak with, supporting them throughout their cancer journey.

Sometimes, you need to hear someone say, "I've been there. I understand!"
