Sutchin Patel, M.D., F.A.C.S. joined City of Hope Chicago in 2011 as a urologist. He completed his medical degree followed by a residency in urology at The Warren Alpert Medical School of Brown University. He then moved on to the University of Wisconsin School of Medicine to complete his fellowship in Robotics, Laparoscopy and Endourology.

Working closely with his patients, Dr. Patel believes that it is important for patients to be active participants in their care.

Dr. Patel is a member of many organizations, including the American Urological Association, the Endourological Society, the American College of Surgeons and the Chicago Urological Society. In addition to practicing urology, Dr. Patel has published in numerous urologic journals and has presented at national and international conferences.
